Warns of Red Air Strength

W. Stuart Symington (left), Secretary for Air, confers with retiring Air Force Chief Gen. Carl Spaatz (right) and Spaatz's successor, Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg. Symington told the House Armed Services Committee in Washington that Russia has the world's "greatest air force" with 12 times as many planes as the U. S., he said, is in the gravest peril in its history. (NEA Telephoto)

Coroner's Inquest Scheduled In Death of Thomas Buono

Bloodhounds Trail Accused Husband

Shotgun Kills Mother of Small Boy; Dad Flees to Woods

South Glens Falls, N. Y., April 14 (AP) — A bloodhound posse spread a no-internals dragnet today for a gun-toting laborer whose 17-year-old wife was shot to death in a bedroom.

Two bloodhounds led more than 20 State Troopers up the mountain, near Conklingville, after a 17-year-old search in vain and now for Harold Allen, 23. Road blocks were established in the area.

Mrs. Edna Allen, mother of a 3-year-old boy, was killed last night in a close-range blast from a shotgun at her father-in-law's home near the modest two-room home in Altonville, a small settlement about two miles north of Conklingville, Saratoga County. Coroner Fred Eaton said, "Neighbors reported that Allen had fled to the woods, carrying a gun, state police said."

The coroner reported that Mrs. Allen had been staying with relatives of her father-in-law, Sunday. She had returned to the home in Altonville about two miles north of Conklingville, the coroner reported.

The state police at Saratoga Springs said Allen had reported domestic trouble to them Monday. The Troopers said they had advised him to go to children's court. The coroner said he had been told Allen preferred a shotgun from a police store yesterday about three hours before the shooting.

The search centered about the northern end of Saratoga reservation in Saratoga county. The region is sparsely settled.

Nebraska Primary Puts Minnesotan Ahead in State's G.O.P. Poll Tuesday

Taft Whitewashed Prestige of Ohio Senator Seriously Hurt by Results

Delegate Scoreboard

Washington, April 14 (AP) — Harold E. Stassen, by his victory in yesterday's Nebraska "popularity" primary, has now won two out of three primaries involving contests for the Republican presidential nomination.

He won in Wisconsin last week and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey won a majority in New Hampshire March 9. As far as can be determined from pledges, semi-pledges and uncommitted claims, here's how they line up:

|------------------|-----|
| Dewey | 111 |
| Stassen | 61 |
| Vandenberg | 41 |
| Gov. Green, Ill. | 16 |
| MacArthur | 8 |
| Taft | 5 |
| Uncommitted | 160 |
| Total | 402 |

Wins in Nebraska

Omaha, April 14 (AP) — Harold E. Stassen lifted himself into the top rank of Republican presidential candidates today with a sweeping victory in Nebraska's G.O.P. primary.

His clear-cut win clubbed Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York into political submission for the second week in a row. Dewey was shut out in the April 6 Wisconsin primary when Stassen won 19 of the state's 27 nominating votes.

The former Minnesota governor's victory dashed the prestige of Senator Robert A. Taft. It also built new fires under the Goodman-but-can't-win theory that has dogged the Taft campaign.

It all but snuffed out the dying hopes of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's supporters. (In Tokyo, MacArthur had no comment.)

But it left intact the darkhorse

Burning Cross Shot Down at Eddyville

Belmore Says Incident Occurred Near Creek Bridge

A cross discovered burning on a rock near the Eddyville bridge at about 9 p. m. Tuesday, was shot down by someone who went to the scene with a shotgun, according to County Identification Officer Leonard Behrman.

The cross, about five feet high, had been erected in a paint barrel filled with gravel, the officer said. Whatever had been used for covering it was not seen.

Bradley Says U. S. Needs 12 Divisions Plus 6 From Guard

Chief of Staff Says Figure Represents Lowest Safety Mark for Nation

Washington, April 14 (AP) — An army ground force of 12 regular combat divisions was recommended today by General Omar N. Bradley as the smallest the nation can safely afford.

The chief of staff said the 12 divisions should be backed up by six more from the National Guard and organized reserves.

He testified before the House Armed Services Committee on a draft bill which would boost the army's total strength from 542,000 men to 782,000.

Bradley, who commanded in Europe the largest American army of history, took issue with testimony given yesterday by Air Secretary Symington.

In response to questions, Symington said he regards an air force of 70 combat groups as more important to the nation's security than universal training.

As Bradley testified, congressional backers of the 70-group plan predicted House approval of an additional appropriation of more than $1,000,000,000 to get the plan started at once.

Bradley said the army "has become primarily an administrative rather than a military force and has only about 54,000 combat troops."

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex.), spokesman for members who have been pushing the 70-group plan, told reporters he planned to ask the extra money during debate on the $2,376,100,000 appropriation measure scheduled for quick House passage.

"I believe it will pass," he said. "I believe the country wants an air force of 70 groups. This is merely a question of procurement, and my amendment would give the air force a head start on its purchasing program."

Kilday said he would not know until the appropriations bill reaches the floor exactly how much more will be needed for the larger air force. But others mentioned a figure of $822,000,000.

It would enable the air force to start building from its present strength of about 14,000 planes, to an eventual 20,541 planes spread among 70 groups.

Other Developments

These were other national defense developments, meanwhile:

1. The House Armed Services Committee called for additional money to draft bill to boost the armed forces to 1,944,000 men in the next two years after hearing that Russia not only is building the largest air force in the world but has far more submarines than the U. S. Navy.

2. The Senate Armed Services Committee took a recess in its draft bill work after voting yesterday to set the registration age range at 18 through 25, rather than through 29 as proposed in a House measure.

The $2,376,100,000 emergency money bill, approved yesterday by the House Appropriations Committee, is an advance on funds that normally would not have been made available until the start of the new fiscal year beginning July 1. It would merely let the air force and navy start spending some of next year's money right away for warplanes and guided missiles.

Secretary of Air Symington told the House Armed Services Committee yesterday that Russia is building the biggest air force in the world because:

"They seem to want to reach a decision with us and they want to reach it in the air."

New York Company Awarded General Construction Contract of $211,354; Total $289,586; Reject Plumbing

Bids totaling $289,586 were accepted by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday evening for constructing the new Tumor Clinic on Broadway adjacent to the present laboratory building. Contracts will be entered into with the successful bidders and work will then begin immediately on the work.

Bids for the general contract, electrical work, heating and ventilating and elevator were accepted but the bids submitted for plumbing were rejected and that contract will be re-advertised.

All bids for plumbing were rejected when it was found the low bidder, George F. McKneally Company of Newburgh, had made a gross error in figuring the job and withdrew its bid. In order that the work may be re-advertised, all plumbing bids were rejected. The McKneally Company base bid was $21,515 and the next low bidder was Cohn & Kramer of Albany with a bid of $30,300.

Declares Hughes And Meyers Acted In Corrupt Manner

Warfare Negotiations Hit by Senate Committee Once Headed by Truman

Washington, April 14 (AP) — A report to Congress today labeled as "obviously corrupt" the wartime negotiations between millionaire plane builder Howard Hughes and Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers.

The Senate War Investigating Committee which drafted the document called for a law to deal with any future case of the kind. It said such a law should demand that both private citizens and officials "report promptly all attempts at bribery, extortion, or other corrupt acts in connection with the negotiation of government business."

The final report of the seven-year-old committee once headed by President Truman covers the group's hearings of last year. These began as an inquiry into Hughes' plane contracts but later centered around the wartime activities of Meyers as No. 2 purchasing officer for the Army Air Forces.

As a result of the committee's disclosures, Meyers was convicted of inducing a former business associate to lie to the senators. He was sentenced to 20 months to five years on that charge and still faces two income tax fraud indictments—and possibly a court martial.

The committee report was due to be filed formally with the Senate during the day. It has been approved by a majority of the 10-member group.

Copy Made Available

A copy of the document already sent to the Government Printing Office was made available to a reporter. It includes these other findings and recommendations:

1. That War Department and Army Air Force leaders failed to conduct an adequate investigation into previous charges against Meyers and later "deliberately tried to conceal" facts from the Senate committee.

2. That all future inquiries into "corrupt or improper activities" be handled by the committee.

Case Is One Of Figures Early Today

Morison Says Strike Creates Public Health Hazard; Required by T-H Law

Shows No Emotion Lewis Disdains Any Show, Chews Upon Peppermints

Washington, April 14 (AP) — John L. Lewis pleaded "not guilty" and went on trial today on a charge of contempt of court for not calling off the coal strike earlier.

The big, bushy-browed miners' chief entered his plea through his attorney, Welly K. Hopkins, who also pleaded innocent for the United Mine Workers to a similar charge.

First off, Hopkins asked Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough to throw out the charges. Goldsborough refused. He is the same judge who fined Lewis $10,000 and the union $3,500,000 (later cut to $700,000 by the Supreme Court) for ignoring a stop-strike order from the courts in 1946.

Then the government took over and started presenting its case. "That was a pretty dull business for the first few hours. Assistant Attorney General Graham Morison began by building up a case that a coal work stoppage creates a situation imperiling the national safety and health. He has to show that under the Taft-Hartley Act, So his first witnesses were government experts on coal, power and general business conditions. They poured out statistics to show that without coal industry strikes to death."

Hopkins popped up continually with objections, but Lewis sat impassively.

Shows No Emotion Unless it was boredom, Lewis showed no emotion. He sat at the counsel's table, danked by a battery of eight defense attorneys. Occasionally, he sneaked a peppermint candy from his pocket to his mouth like a boy in school.

Then, once in a while, he turned his massive head toward the spectators, apparently studying them. The little U. S. District Court room was crowded. Fifty others stood outside, waiting a chance to get in.

The spectators were about evenly divided between men and women and, judging from appearances, included no coal miners. Few looked like they could even lift a pick.

Sometimes the U.M.W. chief rested his chin on a pudgy hand. Sometimes he crossed his arms. He did his share of fidgeting as the testimony droned on.

Goldsborough is a biding former Maryland Congressman. He liked to put in wisecracks from the bench. But Lewis never joined in the laughter.

The case is being heard without a jury.

The question for Goldsborough is whether Lewis is in contempt because he did not get his miners back to work "forthwith" when a court order was issued April 3 telling him to do that. Last Monday—nine days after the order—Lewis told them to go back to work.

Hopkins cited the telegrams Lewis sent to idle miners Monday telling them to go back to work. He argued they showed Lewis had complied with a court order served April 5 to call off the strike.

Lewis has insisted that he never called a strike—that it was a "voluntary cessation" of work. "Immediately after Lewis pleaded 'not guilty,' the government began presenting evidence."

Government lawyers gave out a list of six witnesses, some of them obviously designed to show the seriousness of the coal strike during the last four weeks.

Two of the witnesses subpoenaed were John Owens, secretary-treasurer of the U.M.W., and William L. P. Burke, secretary to trustees of the miners' welfare fund.

The walkout was the result of a dispute over payment of pensions from the welfare fund. The fund comes from a 10 cents a ton royalty on coal mined.

Italian Paper Predicts Victory for Premier; Others Say Russia Has Given Up All Hope

Rome, April 14 (AP) — The authoritative morning newspaper Il Messaggero predicted today that Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democrats would finish well ahead of the Communists in Sunday's elections. The paper said there is no doubt of it.

Although Rightist in its sympathies, Il Messaggero has maintained strict impartiality in its news columns throughout the campaign, printing speeches of all candidates. In that policy it has been almost alone among Rome papers.

A front page editorial said today that "until a month ago, neither experts, statisticians and predictions indicated the Communist-led Popular Front would have the largest vote of any single party or bloc."

"Today," said Il Messaggero, "there is no doubt that Christian Democrats home from the Milan meeting was stored by Leftists near San Giuliano Milanese. Two persons were hurt seriously. 20 suffered minor injuries. There also were disorders at Pesaro, Bologna and Venice."

Held in Baby's Death
Jersey City, N. J., April 14 (AP)—The father of a six-months-old baby girl, quoted by police as saying he "had to give her a crack to keep her quiet," was held today on a murder complaint brought by his wife after the death of the infant. Police Chief Charles A. Wilson said the father, Daniel Fox, 35, admitted striking the child while it was left in his care last Saturday night. Wilson said the mother, Josephine, 28, reported finding her husband "stupidly drunk" when she came home. She said the child seemed unusually quiet and later had to be taken to the Jersey City Medical Center. It died there yesterday.

The former actress' first husband was Irving Adler, Chicago lawyer; her second, Cary Grant of the films.

Five-State Area Is Center of Flood Along Ohio River

Tallahassee, Florida, Is Cut Off From Rest of State; Families Leave Homes

Cincinnati, April 14 (AP)—A five-state Ohio river valley area today was the focal point of widespread spring flood which also spilled into some Florida and North Dakota lowlands.

Experiencing its first major flood since March, 1945, the Ohio was 10 feet above flood stage in some areas and rising steadily throughout the 500-mile stretch. Tributaries went over their banks throughout the watershed.

Florida's state capital, Tallahassee, was isolated from peninsular Florida except by air or round-about routes through southern Georgia. Branford, Fla., was hardest hit when the Suwannee river left its banks.

An estimated 1,000 families were evacuated in the Ohio river area — Kentucky, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana and Ohio. Nearly 100 families were forced from their homes in Grand Forks, N. D., and nearby East Grand Forks, Minn., when the Red river crested at 40.70 feet, 12.70 feet above floor level. National Guardsmen dynamited ice jams there to save bridges. Grand Forks' power plant was out of order.

Red Cross disaster workers said thousands in the Ohio valley would be homeless unless streams crest swiftly. River experts refused to predict a crest until near-continuous rains, now in their third day, come to a halt.

At Pittsburgh, where the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers meet to form the Ohio, the river crested at 26.6 yesterday noon and started going down. But last night it began rising again and today was expected to reach 27.5 feet—two and a half feet above flood stage.

Cincinnati prepared for a 60-foot stage—eight above flood stage. The Red Cross estimated 6,170 persons would be affected in the immediate area if the Ohio reaches 50 feet.

Commuters Are Delayed
New York, April 14 (AP)—An estimated 10,000 homeward-bound commuters were held up as Long Island Railroad trains leaving Pennsylvania station were delayed between 5:44 and 6:09 p. m. yesterday after short circuits halted two trains on the Port Washington run. The first train halted, the 5:37, was stopped at the Harold Signal Tower near Long Island City, Queens. Seven trains behind it were delayed. The second, the 5:25, stopped a short distance west of the Great Neck station.

of five "interested" nations which he did not identify, met secretly during the Cominform organization meeting in Poland last year. He said they met to set up a special committee at the direct order of Moscow to synchronize action on French and Italian Communists to conquer power.

Similar reports were heard during the Communist-instigated strikes in France at the end of last year.

De Gasperi was optimistic about the election.

Palmino Togliatti, head man of the Italian Communists, filed a complaint with Foreign Minister Count Carlo Sforza last night about "the continuous intervention of foreign ambassadors in our election campaign."

He didn't name anyone, but there was little doubt that he was referring to U. S. Ambassador James C. Dunn, who has been very active in recent months, making speeches to mark arrivals of the hundreds of American aid ships to Italy. In his speeches he has talked about U. S. policy towards Italy, Europe and the world.

Communist campaigners are finding the mountains of American aid hard to explain away.

Some of them have backtracked on the subject. At Florence last night Mauro Scoccimarro, Communist and former finance minister, declared:

"It is not true that we are against American aid."

The Communist-line newspaper, La Repubblica, spread a double banner over statements it said Henry Wallace made in Chicago and declared:

"America cannot suspend aid even if the Popular (Communist dominated) front wins."

Bitter Pill for Italians

Trieste, Free Territory, April 14 (AP)—Soviet refusal to discuss the proposed return of Trieste to Italy came as a bitter pill today to pro-Italians in the free territory.

It may even change the tone of their manifestation tomorrow night, when 50,000 people are authorized to meet in the Piazza Unita to show appreciation for the western powers' proposal. Some think the demonstration now may turn into an anti-Russian show.

The United States, Britain and France proposed Trieste be returned to Italy, but Russia has rejected the idea.

Some thought the Soviet move was a Russian acknowledgment of Communist defeat in Italy in Sunday's elections.

British-American sources here interpreted the Russian refusal as the forerunner of another stalemate over the future of the free territory. Unless the three powers decide to return Trieste to Italy without Russian approval, British-American occupation of the territory may become indefinite.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING

Ulster County public health nurses join the nation in celebrating Public Health Nursing Week. The main purpose of this particular week is to make known to the public the service of the nurses.
The Ulster County Health Department has 17 public health nurses. They are located in all parts of the county, as well as in the City of Kingston. These nurses are ready to serve all regardless of race, color, creed or financial status. Their services are multiple including care of the sick at home, instruction regarding health and prevention of disease and special care of the handicapped through the orthopedic nursing service. The public health nurses work closely with the family physician, social agencies and all voluntary organizations in the county and state. More people should know about the value of the public health nursing service.

The public health nurse attains a responsible place in her community. She has a full time job in helping people gain better health, being both nurse and health teacher. Public health nursing is a thrilling career for young women. All graduate nurses who are interested in this special field of service and interested in preparing themselves for it should get in touch with the Ulster County Health Department at any time.

There is no logical reason why Russia and America should not get along together amicably in a large world. We find it is hard to tell Russians anything, but equally hard to understand what Russia tells us.

SELLING AMERICA

The American-Russian tension is not primarily military, although Russia would like it to appear so. With Germany conquered, Stalin and his cohorts need another bogey that will keep the people intimidated to the point where they will obey authority. If the United States can be made to seem the enemy of the U.S.S.R., Stalin has further excuse for staying in command.

For this reason aid to Europe becomes an important peace offensive. Such aid may well be advertised around the world.

Should not the Voice of America proclaim in every language via radio and printed word what life in America is like, the peace aims of this country, the pattern of American democracy?

It is estimated that one million Russians, despite orders to the contrary, listen to American broadcasts. Why not publicize to all people in all countries the story of America, trying to sell peace in a positive way? Expensive, of course, but less so than war.

Russia seems destined to be a thorn in the flesh of free nations indefinitely, so don't bust too many arteries on that score. Take it easy.

THE LINCOLN SECRETS

Why were the recently opened Lincoln papers in the Library of Congress kept secret for 21 years after the death of Lincoln's son Robert? This condition, laid down by the younger Lincoln, has caused much speculation as to sensational disclosures that the papers might contain. The most piquant was the story that they would reveal that one of Lincoln's own cabinet had been a traitor. Secretary of War Stanton was often named in this connection.

Such a suggestion was preposterous. Lincoln would be the last person to countenance a traitor in his official family, certainly not in the vital War Department. Helen D. Bullock of the Library of Congress supplies a better answer.

Writing in the "Library of Congress Quarterly," she says that conditions of secrecy for a period of years are not unusual in gifts of private papers. The Library has several other collections whose use is forbidden. She also justifies this prohibition by explaining that some of Lincoln's correspondents made unjustified charges against notable men. Thus Gen. John A. McClernand told Lincoln that Grant had just been "gloriously drunk

HERBERT HOOVER'S DEATH

Some time ago, some gossip columnists were busy merrily of Herbert Hoover. For a while it was amusing, but soon it became a bore, particularly as their stories began to point to specific persons. Of course, there never was any truth in the accounts and such speculation on private matters is disgraceful.

Now, for two weeks, on the radio, Walter Winchell has referred to Herbert Hoover's ill health. Fortunately for Mr. Hoover, he has recovered from a case of shingles, which was publicly announced at the end of last summer when it hit him, after his long trips by airplane to Europe, Asia and South America. The shingles were unpleasant and for a time Mr. Hoover found it difficult to use his right arm, which had been affected. That was months ago, although Mr. Winchell just heard about it.

As I have seen Mr. Hoover often during the period of illness, convalescence and recovery, I can speak of it. Even while he was troubled by the shingles, Mr. Hoover delivered three addresses to one of which he was accompanied by a physician as was reported but by former Ambassador Hugh Gibson. The addresses, during that period, were to the Holland Society, the Sons of the Revolution and at the Madison Square Garden. He also went fishing off Florida and caught some fish. He conducted the meetings of the Commission on the Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government every month from September 29 until three weeks ago. The next meeting is scheduled for the beginning of next week and Mr. Hoover expects to be there. All these meetings were held in Washington and some of them have been hectic. Mr. Hoover lives in New York and has publicly traveled to Washington and back.

Mr. Hoover devotes himself to voluminous writing, for publication and for safekeeping. He does all his writing in long-hand, using a pencil. Nobody knows what Mr. Hoover's right arm is doing, except when I dined with him. I insisted upon shaking his right hand for the fun of it and perhaps as a protest against the tales that were passing in New York's expensive saloons and vulgar bistros.

At any rate, I have been with Mr. Hoover often during the past year. I have read some of the manuscripts. In a word, the shingles did not permanently injure Mr. Hoover's right arm. In fact, recently when I dined with him, I insisted upon shaking his right hand for the fun of it and perhaps as a protest against the tales that were passing in New York's expensive saloons and vulgar bistros.

I am sure that Mr. Winchell is solicitous of the ex-President's health and that he wishes him well, and that his writing is grateful for the solitude, which comes months too late. Each time Mr. Winchell shows his deep concern, thousands of friends telephone and send messages of good cheer. It would have been simpler for Mr. Winchell to telephone to Mr. Hoover or even to consult the editor and publisher of his newspaper, "The New York Mirror," who have ready access to Mr. Hoover. This is a story which could easily have been confirmed-cost one nickel. Certainly, it has no news value and no radio value nearly nine months late and fully three months after Mr. Hoover's complete recovery.

Of course, anything can happen and when it is said that a man of 73 is ill, it is possible if the story is repeated often enough. But Herbert Hoover seems to be unusually robust these days—some what greyer, somewhat thinner, but working extraordinarily hard.

As a matter of fact, his friends who are with him often, are astonished that at his age he keeps going as he does. Like Bernard Baruch and Jesse Jones, he seems not to tire. The Winchell reports have caused some fear that Mr. Hoover has suffered a stroke. I can assure them that there is no truth in that.

This is my report on a very dear friend. I hope that Walter Winchell will accept this report. He ought, after so many years of reporting, to be able to confirm the facts of a situation that seems so vital to him.

CARE OF THE TEETH

It is only within recent years that our hospitals have recognized the importance of having a dentist visit them regularly to examine and test teeth and gums. Still more recently, hospitals and mental institutions have been having one or more dentists give full time to provide dental care and prevent infection. Even a low dental infection can take the fight out of patients in hospitals and mental hospitals.

For years industrial plants have had a nurse giving full-time service in a well equipped first-aid room with a physician making daily visits at regular hours. It is not surprising, therefore, that just as hospitals found it necessary to have a dentist attached to the institution, many industrial organizations are doing likewise.

In "Industrial Medicine," Dr. E. Goldhamer states that a modern dental program serves industry and the worker by showing a broad understanding of and by providing for all phases of the health problem as it affects or is affected by the numerous and complex present-day industrial processes. By having emergency dental care, there is less loss of time, fewer work stoppages and more accidents are prevented.

Sometimes the nature of the work being done affects the teeth, gums, throat, lungs and even digestion, so that there is a combined need of dentist, physician, hygienist and safety engineer.

Now that the condition of the workers' teeth means much to the economy of industry, the Council on Dental Health of the American Dental Association, with other parts of the association, have developed industrial programs embracing full dental treatment. The program is submitted to the Dental Association by the Illinois Dental Society, is briefly: (1) Dental examination at regular intervals; (2) emergency dental care; (3) removal of infection; (4) recognition and correction of mouth conditions caused by the nature of the work; (5) treatment of industrial injuries; (6) dental health education.

Dental care is a good investment for employee and employer.

and unfit for duty." And Grant himself, reporting on Gen. Napoleon B. Buford, a skilful operator against guerrillas in Arkansas, said that "Buford would scarcely make a respectable hospital nurse if put in petticoats", and that he was unfit for any other military duty.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, April 13—Otis Wright of the north reservoir boulevard returned home Saturday from St. Petersburg, Fla., where he had spent the winter months. Otis drove north in his car accompanied by a blue coat with brass buttons. He was fond of relaxing on the front steps of his home facing the railroad tracks and near the main street, enjoying the sunshine and watching the trains and the world go by. He had joined the army from Shandaken, becoming a resident of Olive in after years.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schock have returned home from Fort Pierce, Fla. after having been away from Shokan for the past several weeks.

Norman North, who was employed on building construction work in New York during the winter months, has returned home and is assisting his father, Justus North, local building contractor.

Traffic on the middle Ashokan boulevard has picked up noticeably since motorists began using Route 28-A in order to avoid the rough going at several spots on the Onteora Trail between here and Kingston. The big milk trucks which roar down from the mountains are coming this way now instead of over the Mt. Tremper Woodstock route which has been in bad condition for a week or so.

An all-day meeting of the Ashokan W.C.S. took place Wednesday, April 7, at the home of Mrs. John Lyser for the purpose of sewing and making fancy articles for the society's annual summer fair at the M.E. Church hall. Refreshments were served and everyone had a pleasant day.

Thursday, April 14, 1910: Montoma—O. F. DeGraff has sold his yoke of oxen to Edwin Deyall of Mt. Tremper. Hiram and George Nehrer are building a new house for Ed. Shokan—Mr. and Mrs. John B. Zink celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary in New York City with a church ceremony at which the participants included Theodore K. Other features of the celebration were a party and dinner, a carriage drive in Central Park and a large social and entertainment in the couple's home. Coins on Display
In Uptown Stores

In commemoration of National Coin Week there are three displays in the show windows of uptown merchants, one at the Styles jewelry store on Fair street, another at Flanagan's clothing establishment on Wall street and the third at Sam Barnett's antique shop on North Front street.

Sam Barnett, president of the Hudson Valley Coin Club, told a reporter that he considered the collections among the best ever displayed locally, with a variety of coins and medals represented. "Coin collecting is very fascinating," he advised, and added that any youngster or adult interested in taking it up as a hobby could get information on how to get started by calling on him or any of the individuals in the club.

Collector who have delays uptown are William Mohr of 676 Delaware avenue, Earl Sherwood of 571 Delaware avenue, Arnold Cohen of Johnston avenue, Paul Cabon on Ulster Landing and Sam Barnett of North Front street.

Voters' Interest Slight

Chicago, April 14 (AP)—Illinois voters showed only a ripple of interest in yesterday's neck-lustre primary. With no presidential contender and most major offices uncontested, less than one-third of the state's 4,500,000 registered voters went to the polls. Ten of the 21 incumbent congressmen who were opposed won re-election. They included eight Republicans. Seven had voted for the Taft-Hartley law and some of them had strong opposition from labor organizations. Each party nominated 26 congressmen, with contests for 18 Republican and 12 Democratic seats.

To Take Strike Vote

New York, April 14 (AP)—The Transport Workers Union (C.I.O.) pushed plans today to take a strike vote tomorrow night among 9,000 members employed by three surface transportation companies. The companies threatened with imminent tieups are the Third Avenue Transit Corporation, New York City Omnibus Corporation and Fifth Avenue Coach Company. Michael J. Quill, international president of the union, told Mayor William O'Dwyer yesterday in a telegram that there would be "an immediate and complete tieup of every transit line in the city" unless the five-cent fare is raised at once.

President Green Is Naive or Puzzled When He Asks Why C.I.O. Others Are Boosting Eisenhower

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 14—President William Green of the AFL is either naive or frankly puzzled when he asks why the CIO and many so-called "liberals" are boosting General Eisenhower for the Democratic Party nomination for the presidency.

Mr. Green rightly says that the "alleged representatives of labor" who want to draft the general do not know the latter's views on labor questions, and whether he is for or against the Taft-Hartley law or anything else.

Evidently the head of the American Federation of Labor isn't aware of just what is behind the "left wingers" to draft General Eisenhower. These radicals haven't any more real interest in General Eisenhower than they have in General MacArthur or any other general, for they know that military men aren't supposed to be too friendly to labor.

What the "left wingers" are really trying to do is to ditch President Truman. The idea is to build up sentiment throughout the Democratic Party to assure the elimination of Truman and then center attention on one of their own "left wing" favorites, Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court of the United States—who, in the minds of many so-called liberals is a better radical than Henry A. Wallace.

The theory evidently is that, if Truman is forced out of the race by withdrawal or defeat, the Democratic Party will be casting about for someone who could cut into the Wallace strength or who could persuade him to withdraw in favor of such a radical.

In none of these calculations does the south figure except as a convenient ally in the process of dumping the Truman candidacy.

The plot is apparent to anyone who has followed "left wing" adventures in American politics. It will not succeed because, at some not-far-distant date, General Eisenhower will take occasion to repudiate any such spurious efforts in his behalf.

"Labor," says William Green, "does not know the economic, social or industrial views of General Eisenhower, who has been a military man all his life."

The foregoing is the true sentiment of most Democrats and lots of other people who aren't Democrats. Even if the general had said "yes" to the Republicans, who a few months ago were trying to nominate him, he would have been subjected to the same kind of criticism as is intimated in the comment by Mr. Green.

The suggestion that a man who was a few weeks ago acceptable to the Conservative Republicans now should be the principal candidate for the "Left Wing" Democrats is rather fantastic, and political observers of experience have known all along that there isn't any real substance to the so-called Eisenhower boom for the Democratic nomination.

The significant thing is that the "Left Wingers" who have been given plenty of support for their ideology by Mr. Truman's messages and vetoes, should now turn on the very man who learned so strongly to the "left." It rather proves that Mr. Truman might have won re-election easily if he had striven to gain the support of the middle groups in America, who are closer to the conservative than the radical side on domestic questions.

Mr. Truman is going to be nominated. Any President can get himself nominated because his own officeholders, in effect, select the delegates. The President probably has a majority of the delegates assured already. If he turned against the "Left Wing," which isn't for him anyhow, and really followed public opinion in America, especially on the prosecution of labor-union abuses, he would win many of the independent voters.

Mr. Truman's popularity curve has undergone many fluctuations. If a war emergency became acute and if Mr. Truman cracked down on a few of the individuals who are defying the law, he might find himself more popular than he has been in recent months. It isn't a good idea to write off anyone who is President in uncertain or critical times.

Tighter Check Ordered
Washington, April 14 (AP)—The armed forces have ordered a tighter check on enlisted men assigned to the highly secret special weapons projects. The project includes among its studies atomic weapons and guided missiles. Its main field work is done at Sandia, near Albuquerque, N. M. An Army circular issued today said the requirements "will be strictly adhered to." They provide, among other things, that an enlisted man must be a United States citizen, must never have lost time in service because of sentences served for such misconduct as drunkenness, nor been convicted by a special or general courtmartial.

Boy Hangs Self
New York, April 14 (AP)—A few hours after visiting his mother who had just undergone a major operation, James Enimore, Jr., 10, was found hanged in the bedroom of his Brooklyn home last night. The boy's body was suspended from a bathrobe cord knotted about a clothes hook. His father, a 33-year-old machinist, said he believed his son had been playing and accidentally hanged himself. Police, however, listed the death as apparent suicide. Hospital attaches will break the news to the seriously ill mother as soon as it is safe.

Bogota Paper Says Stassen Is Winner

what happens when Communists move into positions of leadership." (Jackson said he will report to Congress tomorrow on the revolt.) Colombia's diplomatic relations with Russia are unclear. Yesterday a member of the presidential secretariat said the cabinet had not yet approved the decree for severing relations, as announced by the government radio the previous day.

Gundter was heard outside the U. S. Embassy last night immediately after it was announced the conference would continue. The nature of the shooting was not determined.

Hundreds of laborers were busy cleaning up the ravaged capitol buildings which the Colombian Government said would be ready for conference occupancy within four days.

The government has detailed its public works engineers to clean up the wreckage of the rioting which claimed about 300 miles and left Bogota a ruin.

possibilities of Senator Arthur Vandenberg, secure in fourth place in a race he spurned.

The count in yesterday's free-for-all primary from 1,429 of the state's 2,024 precincts was Stassen 53,874, Dewey 41,167, Taft 13,973, Vandenberg 5,508, MacArthur 4,556, Gov. Earl Warren of California 1,208, and House Speaker Joseph Martin 566.

Along with his victory in the free for all popularity contest, Stassen appeared likely to wrap up as a first birthday present the first-ballot support at the Philadelphia convention of at least 13 of the state's 15 delegates.

Dewey Has Chance

On the basis of incomplete returns, Dewey had a chance to get one delegate and another possible winner was unpledged.

Of the 13 who said they would vote for the primary winner on the first nominating test at the national convention, five also pledged to support him as long as he has a chance for the nomination.

But it was Stassen, the untiring young fellow from Minnesota who rode off with the political glory in a state where he himself had thought the outcome so doubtful he made only cautious pre-vote predictions of victory.

Total Forecast

The total vote in the primary seemed unlikely to exceed 210,000 with Republicans casting about 160,000 ballots and Democrats 50,000.

On the basis of the way they were running with a large share of the state's precincts in Stassen's final lead over Dewey was expected to exceed 15,000.

Dewey made his best showing in Douglas county, which includes Omaha.

The count in 140 of the 201 Douglas county precincts was Dewey, 7,348, Stassen 5,702 and Taft 2,260.

Stassen sent the Republican organization headed by Senator Hugh Butler (R-Neb.) down to its worst defeat.

Taft, supported by the Butler group, never had a chance.

He trailed in all of the state's 93 counties. Stassen led in 80 of them and Dewey in 10. The other three counties were unheard from at that time.

Taft's poor showing here may affect the outcome of the May 4 Ohio primary, where Stassen is trying to take some of the state's 53 delegates away from the Chicagoan.

To Resume Campaigning

The former Minnesota governor planned to resume campaigning in Ohio tomorrow.

Dewey and Stassen meet head-on in the May 21 Oregon primary. A loss for Dewey there like those in Wisconsin and Nebraska would put the New York governor almost wholly out of the presidential race.

But with a number of delegates already in his camp, Dewey still might have a heavy hand in naming the nominee.

Campaigning mostly by bus, Stassen visited virtually every part of Nebraska. Dewey, who spent three days here, often drew larger crowds.

Taft was aided in his personal Nebraska campaigning by Mrs. Taft.

tion. The delegates are not bound by the popular vote in the primary.

Charles Reed, Omaha attorney and Nebraska manager of Vandenberg's unsuccessful presidential campaign in 1940, was leading the list of candidates running in state-wide races for seven of the 15 delegate posts. Reed pledged first ballot support to the primary winner.

These convention delegates were elected in a primary that saw the Democrats choose a 12-vote delegation and give President Truman a pat on the back.

Mr. Truman, running unopposed, polled 24,099 votes in 1,114 precincts in the Democratic popularity contest. Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), running solo for vice presidential endorsement, fell behind with 18,266 votes in 1,043 precincts.

Republicans nominated Senator Kenneth Wherry, acting G.O.P. Senate leader, and Gov. Val Peterson. Democrats gave a long lead to former Rep. Terry Carpenter for their senatorial nomination. Frank Sorrell was unopposed for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

But it was Stassen, the untiring young fellow from Minnesota who rode off with the political glory in a state where he himself had thought the outcome so doubtful he made only cautious pre-vote predictions of victory.

Martin Says U. S. Faces Fifth Column Danger

Philadelphia, April 14 (AP)—The United States is faced with the necessity of uncovering and destroying "a highly dangerous fifth column" that is "boring from within," Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) said last night.

Addressing the 41st anniversary dinner of Philadelphia's 49th Republican Executive Committee, Martin said "these subversive enemies are working within the structure of our free government."

"When the Republicans take over the administration after next November," he said, "the State Department is going to get a department that will be good for the nation."

"We have to be sure these fifth columnists are not only thrown off the public payroll but that they are brought out into the light of day where we can watch them and foil their nefarious operations."

Crisman Is Hurt At Hutton Yard

Virgil Crisman, Jr., 44, of 56 Elizabeth street, who was struck on the head by a sand bucket while at work at the Hutton Brickyard on North street today, suffered a minor laceration of the scalp and concussion, Dr. Theodore Nowicki of the Kingston Hospital staff reported.

X-rays also were taken after the patient's arrival. It was reported, but they did not show any fracture. The accident, according to the police, occurred shortly after 11 a. m.

Although full details were unavailable at the brickyard, it was reported that the accident took place near the sand banks.

Crisman was reported in satisfactory condition at the hospital this afternoon.

Marlborough Man Hit By Car; Leg Is Hurt

Michael Vanacore, of Marlborough suffered a leg injury, according to the state police of Highland, when he stepped behind one auto and was struck by another on Route 9-W at Marlborough yesterday afternoon.

A sedan, operated by Roger Roda, of Marlborough, had stepped to pick up Vanacore, the report said, when another auto driven by William McGowan of Marlborough pulled up close to the rear and he was pinned between the two.

The accident appeared to have resulted in a misunderstanding between the drivers, the police said, as to which was going to pick up Vanacore and in the confusion he walked to the rear of the first car which had stopped. He was treated at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

on the part of air force, army, navy or other officers be conducted by a separate agency to avoid "a tendency to cover up or whitewash" cases involving officers of high rank.

3. That the Hughes Tool Company, in which Hughes holds all the stock, faces a possible "tax deficiency" for 1940-46 of almost $8,500,000 although these "preliminary determinations" are subject to review both by the Bureau of Internal Revenue and the courts.

4. That John W. Meyer, free-spending public relations man for Hughes, paid expense accounts totaling $169,661 during the war years in an attempt to win favor of air force and other officials handling contracts.

5. That all such costs be "disallowed in computing federal income taxes."

6. That the "draft deferments of John Meyer should be fully investigated by the Department of Justice."

Brewster Not Mentioned

Parading through the final report are most of the names that made headlines during the hearings—except that of Senator Brewster (R-Me.), chairman of the full committee.

Hughes contended under oath—and Brewster denied as a sworn witness—that the chairman had offered to call off the investigation if Hughes would agree to a merger of his Trans-World Airlines with Pan American Airways.

After the Hughes-Brewster name-calling had delayed the main inquiry, both agreed to call it a draw and Brewster withdrew from the hearings.

There were reports that the four Democratic members of the committee might accompany the document with their own findings on this incident. This did not develop. But although the committee died January 31, members have until the end of this month to file reports.

The majority noted that Mayers played a prominent part in Hughes' contract for a photo reconnaissance plane and said:

"Under these circumstances the committee was amazed to discover the type of personal negotiations and the resulting charges and countercharges involving Hughes and General Mayers."

As for Hughes' two aircraft contracts, the committee said his munition flying boat has cost the government more than $19,000,000 to date. That sum, it said, fails to justify "the possible knowledge to be gained from this single experimental plane."

The contract for the photo reconnaissance craft was paid off in 1946 for $8,642,000 the committee said. It added that while it "must be considered a failure as a war project," it "may be of value as a postwar experimental plane."

ering, he reported, had been burned off with the exception of small charred pieces.

The sheriff's office was notified of the incident at 9:10 p. m. and Deputy Sheriff Harry Keator joined the county identification officer, who lives in Eddyville, at the scene.

Few residents of the community showed interest in the display which was discovered during last night's rain, the officer indicated but among the few who visited the scene was the man with the shotgun. The cross was erected on a high rock to the left of the west approach of the bridge, according to the report.

Some residents of the community believe that the display might have been the work of a group of youngsters.

All Are Eligible For Attention From Health Nurse

The theme of National Public Health Nursing Week, currently being observed, is "Help Your Public Health Nurse Help Your Community." It was announced today.

Recent public opinion polls, said authorities in charge, indicate that many persons have mistaken ideas about public health nursing programs.

One is that public health nursing is available only to the underprivileged and another is that professional nursing service at home is too expensive to be considered by families of modest means.

Those in charge of the program stress that "both impressions are erroneous." It is true, they say, "that public health nursing began as a visiting nurse service to give home care to the 'sick poor,' but public health nursing services in Ulster county, still consider that a major responsibility, is to see that the sick, who are unable to pay for needed care get it at no expense to them. These services are made through the payment of taxes."

The purpose of this week dedicated to the service, "is to let each and every citizen in the commu-

Agreement Is Near

New York, April 14 (AP)—New York city's 14 major daily newspapers and their 2,500 A.F.L. printers were reported near agreement today on a new contract. Spokesmen for the publishers and the New York Local of the A.F.L. International Typographical Union joined last night in expressing hope that full agreement on all issues would be reached in time for presentation to the union membership Sunday. The old contract expired March 30. Winding up a four-hour negotiating session, Laurence H. Victory, president of the local, said the union and the publishers were in accord on 80 of the 85 provisions to be included in the New York agreement. No settlement has been reached yet on the question of wages however, Victory said.

Leaders in the work stress that as the public health nurse goes about the community, teaches good health practices as well as caring for the sick, and she discovers sources of infection that can be eradicated. "Extending her services is one of the best possible ways to help people get well and keep well."

Attorney Seeks Writ To Set Aside Order

New York, April 14 (AP)—An attorney for Mrs. Siddy Kallman, described as the wife of Arthur Kallman, brewing executive, yesterday in Supreme Court moved to vacate an order committing her to Stony Lodge, a sanitarium at Ossining, N. Y.

In his affidavit, the attorney, Manfred Wolkiser, of 70 Pine street, said that "in this case the meticulous and provident machinery of the mental hygiene law, intended by the Legislature to provide all safeguards against an occurrence such as the case at bar, have been abused and circumvented so as to make a farce out of these careful processes of the law, degrading them to a mail order elimination of an unwanted person."

To this end, the affidavit continued, "on the evening of January 31, 1948, Mrs. Kallman was brought against her will to the psychiatric ward of Bellevue Hospital as an alleged emergency case. Actually, however, it appears that this was done pursuant to a prearranged plan in order to engineer her eventual confinement in Stony Lodge."

The attorney later said that although Mrs. Kallman had been released from Stony Lodge last Friday, after he had served a show cause order, the commitment order still was in effect and should be vacated.

Wolkiser also said later that he had served a $100,000 claim against the city for Mrs. Kallman's alleged detention in Bellevue Hospital from last January 31 to February 18.

The attorney said Kallman is president of Prior Beer, and that his client lives at 230 Riverside Drive.

The name "Idaho" comes from the Indian word Ed-dah-how, meaning the sun is on the mountain.

Towns Say Funds
May Suffer by Equalization Cuts

Albany, N. Y., April 14 (AP)—Several towns say their educational funds may suffer through planned reductions in equalization rates for their tax districts.

Lowering of equalization rates on utility properties might result in a decrease in state aid to education for the schools in the districts, spokesmen for the towns told the State Tax Commission yesterday at a three-hour hearing.

The equalization rate is a factor in computation of state aid for education. Aid is figured in inverse ratio to the value of real property in the school district.

So-called "special franchise" rates are established annually by the tax commission to equalize valuation of utility property at the same percentage of full value in assessing other property.

Representatives of several utilities also appeared at the hearing to protect increased assessments in their towns.

Objections to the proposed changes have been filed by 81 other towns, villages and utilities. The objections will be notified by August 1 whether the state-ordered revisions will be made. Commissioners Spencer E. Bates and Harry E. Clinton said.

William M. Peck, supervisor of the town of Pine Plains in Dutchess county, declared that despite increased assessments, rates had been reduced in his district.

The towns of Milan and Red Hook in Dutchess county also were represented at the hearings.

Utilities represented included the Westchester Lighting Company of Westchester county, the Sea Cliff Water Company, Long Beach Gas Company, Queens Gas and Electric Company, Long Island Lighting Company and Nassau and Suffolk Lighting Company of Nassau county.

The regular meeting of the Kingston Volunteer Naval Reserve Unit will take place Wednesday evening, April 14, at 8 in the American Legion Building. Mayor Newkirk will address the unit and discuss the cooperation that the city of Kingston will extend in connection with the establishment of an organized Reserve Unit. In addition, Alderman-at-Large Charles J. Turck, who has already indicated his deep interest, will also comment on this phase of the situation.

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce has notified Lt. Commander Herman E. Gottfried that it has gone on record as favoring the establishment of an organized Naval Reserve Unit in Kingston and also has notified the commandant of the Third Naval District to that effect. Commander Gottfried announced that the service clubs of Kingston, namely Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions, have been extremely helpful and are considering action similar to that taken by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

In addition, the training officer of the unit, Lt. Clifford Hall, will explain the postwar rating structure of the navy and will indicate how advancements in rates may be obtained.

All members of the unit are urged to attend this highly important meeting.

Will Continue PM

New York, April 14 (AP)—Publisher Marshall Field says publication of his newspaper PM will be continued through April 30, two weeks beyond the deadline previously announced. The extension, made public last night, is the third made by Field since his announcement last month that he would discontinue the New York city publication. Field said the new extension was decided when two of the groups interested in purchasing PM advised him that they needed further time "to make definite proposals." Last night, Leonard V. Funder, publisher of the Manchester (N.H.) Evening Leader, announced in Manchester that he had withdrawn as a possible purchaser.

An Outstanding Year in Metropolitan's History

"1947 was one of the best years in the history of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

"The Company's financial position was excellent. More Metropolitan policyholders than ever before enjoyed the blessings of life insurance. Through investments, the Company played a bigger role than in any preceding year in helping to keep the wheels of industry turning . . . to provide jobs and homes . . . and to maintain high standards of living.

"However, the year was not without its problems. Insurance costs were higher because of lower interest rates, and because of the prevalent increase in the cost of goods and services."

President Leroy A. Lincoln reported these facts in his account of the Company's 1947 activities in a motion picture entitled "Pages From An Open Book." Here are some other important facts about 1947 presented by Mr. Lincoln:

—Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries totalled $671,000,000—topping all records.

—More than 2,300,000 people bought Metropolitan policies during the year. The total of Metropolitan policyholders reached 32,384,000.

—At the year-end, policyholders owned a total of $37,250,000,000 of Metropolitan protection—the greatest amount in the Company's history.

—Metropolitan will pay in 1948 somewhat more in dividends to policyholders than in 1947, although there will be downward adjustments for certain classes of business.

Mr. Lincoln also reported that last year a committee representing all State Insurance Departments completed, as required by law, a periodic examination of Metropolitan. In their conclusions, the examiners reported:

"The examination of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company indicates that it is in a sound financial condition."

"Policy claims are paid promptly, and fair and equitable treatment has been accorded the policyholders."

Metropolitan's Annual Report for 1947, which is entitled "Pages From An Open Book," contains much additional information about the Company's operations. If you would like to have this booklet, fill in and mail the coupon below. A copy will be sent to you without charge.

Laidlaw Speaks On Problems of Educators Today

Educational problems today "are the greatest our country has ever faced," Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of schools, told members of the Kingston Lions Club at its luncheon meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday.

Unless we solve them, the speaker stressed, "we can expect our prosperity to decline, our crime rate to rise, and our proud democracy to tremble."

"Let us dig in and find out," he urged, "how we, who pour ourselves on our public education, our high standards of culture for all, our know-how, our democracy, have neglected education so much that headline writers dare say that our schools have rapidly deteriorated."

The speaker stressed that great resources "avail us little if we are not educated to use them," and declared that "it was no coincidence that the great growth of our country occurred during the same years that education saw its greatest period of growth."

States with lowest teachers' salaries, he said, "are also at the bottom of the list of per capita income. One may twist and say that because the state's income is low, the pay of the teacher is low, but it is a certain fact that so long as state or city, or county invests little in knowledge, it can expect little in prosperity."

As for the individual, he declared, "The psychological assets of education are intangible, but the material assets are more easily assessed."

A survey published in 1943, he said, estimated that the average life earnings of a grammar school graduate are $45,000; of a high school graduate, $75,000; of a college graduate, $150,000.

The speaker emphasized that "after a century of increasingly better education, we are now in the danger of going backward—not forward. In 1946, we invested 2.2 per cent of our national income in education, although in 1933 we invested 3.7 per cent. But as individuals we are paying 5.2 per cent of our earned income for alcohol."

Stress on education varies by states, he said. "The average salary of teachers in Mississippi in 1946 was $858. Only about one in five inhabitants of the Carolinas, Arkansas, Georgia, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and Kentucky, has had more than four years of schooling, although in Nevada, Wyoming, California and Utah, two in five have completed high school."

Education to sustain democracy he declared, "must be free, must be answerable to the majority of the people if a free society is to remain strong and dynamic."

The speaker stressed also that "We must restore the teacher to his rightful place in the community. We must provide him with the tools of his profession and open to him the privileges of the well-rounded individual, if we are to expect of him the high standards so vital to education today."

Approximately 350,000—one third of all the teachers in the United States—have left the schools since 1939, he reported, and stressed that "only a small percentage of young men and women now in college are training for teaching. Some 109,000 teachers hold only emergency certificates."

Some recent trends away from apathy, disinterest or ignorance, are encouraging, he said, and stress toward solution of current problems can begin "first in our own communities." Trends toward greater state support of education and more federal financial aid are encouraging, he said, but a big job is yet to be done.

The speaker struck at low salaries and unfavorable conditions which have been sources of discouragement to teachers, and declared in conclusion: "We have constructed the greatest system of public education in the world today. But it must be improved. It is not overly optimistic to think that we have what it takes to keep it going in consonance with our expanding personal and community needs and our critical national problems."

Clifford L. Rall, principal of the Myron J. Michael School, introduced the speaker.

Taft Agrees Some Phases of Credit Bill Inflationary

Washington, April 14 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today agreed with Marriner Eccles that some credit provisions of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner Long Range Housing Bill are inflationary.

But Taft refused to go along with the acting chairman of the Federal Reserve Board on his contention that the bill's credit incentives won't produce more homes. The controversial T-E-W bill is designed to encourage construction of 15,000,000 new homes during the next decade. Taft and Eccles engaged in a brisk exchange over the bill late yesterday while the federal reserve official was testifying on bank credit before the Senate-House Economic Committee.

Eccles criticized the proposed home loan terms, saying they would further inflate the price of homes.

Taft insisted the bill would produce more homes, but he told reporters he agrees with Eccles that some of the credit provisions are "too liberal."

Taft singled out a section which allows builders to get 90 per cent loans, make no down payment and then sell at whatever profit they can get. As drafted originally, these loans to contractors ranged from 80 to 85 per cent. The Senate Banking Committee liberalized the provision. Taft is not a member of that group.

Eccles told the economic committee, which Taft heads, that home loan incentives never will produce more houses until there no longer is a shortage of building materials. Eccles said the price of lumber, for example, is "terrifically inflated" and "fantastically high," and will remain so as long as it is scarce.

The Commerce Department said yesterday that lumber prices "apparently" are receding from record highs.

The economic committee has recessed its bank credit hearings until Friday, when it will begin to get the views of private bankers.

Clauson Predicts Chaos in Schools Unless Pay Jumps

New York, April 14 (AP)—"Chaos, confusion and lowered teaching morale" in city schools are predicted by the president of the Board of Education if 15,000 of the teachers are denied pay increases.

Andrew G. Clauson, Jr., the education chief, told the Board of Estimate yesterday that it would run that risk if it failed to include funds for the increases in the 1948-49 fiscal year budget.

Clauson spoke at the second-day public hearing on the proposed record city budget of $1,137,306,741.

Speaker after speaker complained of inadequate schools and libraries, whose appropriations were under discussion.

High education officials, teacher and civic groups and parents told the board the city's schools and colleges will be handicapped even more seriously than now unless more than $20,000,000 cut from the budget requests is restored.

Clauson reminded the board that salary increases had been promised to 15,000 teachers—half the staff and mostly older teachers—last year under promotional provisions of new legislation.

Although the sum recommended for the Board of Education in Mayor William O'Dwyer's proposed budget is $21,533,416 less than requested for the next fiscal year, it is $13,090,236 more than provided in the current budget.

After schools closed yesterday, about 350 teachers gathered in front of City Hall to protest elimination of their pay increases.

They carried placards bearing the names of the Teachers Guild (A.F.L.) and the Teachers Union (C.I.O.).

Sorosis Hears Paper

On Mexican Revolution Sorosis met with Mrs. Ward Brigham, Linderman avenue, Monday when Mrs. Grover C. Lasher read Mrs. Fred J. K. Eitel's paper on Mexican Revolution and Sports.

Mexico offered a fine variety, she explained describing the country as the place where "music never stops playing." She spoke of the winter tourist possibilities, the floating gardens, as well as the fiestas, bull fights and other forms of entertainment, including the native dances. She noted that bull fighting started about 1529 and is a most skillful sport in Mexico City. The padded suit of the matador weighs about 18 pounds and has not changed in 100 years.

The baseball games are similar to those in the United States she pointed out, only instead of the American "hot dogs" for refreshments there are the Mexican tortillas and tamales. She also spoke of the fishing rodeos on the west coast.

The next and final study meeting will be April 26, at the home of Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselmann, West Chestnut street. This will be the annual meeting and election of officers will take place.

Twentieth Century Club Sets Date for Dinner

Twentieth Century Club met Monday with Mrs. R. H. D. Boerker, 180 Wrentham street. May 19 was set as the date for the final meeting and dinner at Ye Nieuw Dorp when Mrs. W. S. McNab of Scherectady will be the guest speaker. Mrs. McNab spoke recently at the County Women's Republican Club.

After the business meeting Mrs. Herman Schwenk gave her paper on a Reader's Digest topic, "Billboards and Advertising Signs Along the Highways." These enormous signs not only spoil the beauty of the country but are a hazard to motorists, she pointed out. Mrs. Schwenk quoted from several writers in papers and magazines. She also explained that the need for ridding this menace had been fought and lost many times in the Senate although the question is still being discussed. During the club discussion which followed, it was brought out that perhaps this was another job for women's clubs.

The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. A. D. Mott, April 26, 155 Eldon street, at which time a social hour will follow the business meeting. Election of officers will take place.

Chez Emile and Sickler's Delivery Reach Shaughnessy Finals

Fullers and Ottos Suffer Bad Beating in Semi-Final

Another chapter in the Chez Emile-Sickler Delivery basketball feud was assured for the Y League Shaughnessy finals Thursday night, when both clubs came through impressively in last night's semi-finals at the Y gym.

Both clubs scored over the 70 mark to crush eliminate Fuller Sports and Otto Clippers.

Chez Emile, regular league champions, overpowered Fullers by the surprise margin of 76-43, while Sickler's rolled over the high scoring Clippers, 71-13.

With four men printing themselves for double figures, Chez Emile was off winning against Fullers, rolling up a 39-20 half-time lead. The Clippers played within reasonable distance of Sickler's in the first half, 23-33, but faded under the pressure of a steady stream of baskets by the Andy Murphy and Al Thomas.

Murphy Scores 21
Murphy was the individual scoring star of the doubleheader with 21 points, three more than his teammate, Thomas, and eight more than Sickler's 13. In all 14 players hit for 10 points or better thusly:

Murphy, Sickler's, 21.
Thomas, Sickler's, 18.
Houghtaling, Chez, 15.

In The Pocket

with CHARLIE TIANO

Bagatelles:

Andy Varipapa bettered 200 in five out of six games in Port Jervis Sunday night for a 212 average. . . . His top efforts were 235 and 226 which indicates he'll do alright against Johnny Ferraro on the Y drives on April 20. . . . Meanwhile the ticket committee of the Y-Mercantile and Church Federation Leagues reports that reservations are practically sold out. . . . Howard Minard, William Murray, Ferris Williams, Len Ward, President Jim Roe and Lou Schaffer are carrying the ball for this top promotion. . . . Hercules leggers won national telegraphic award for the second straight year, with Bob Hanley posting high series. . . . A group of Wilmington bigwigs will dine with local powdermen in the near future.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

The Kingston Power Boat Association is raising the standard of the local regatta every year. . . . The 1948 prize goal is $660. . . . W. A. Badel, Association secretary and a good public relations man, points out that membership in the New York Outboard Association is not limited to outboard drivers. . . . Anyone who wishes to aid in the promotion of outboard racing can do so by becoming an associate member. . . . You can do so by contacting any official of the Kingston Powerboat group. . . . Sad news for Poughkeepsie baseball fans: Mickey Witke, their favorite big leaguer, is out of the big time—back with the Jersey City Giants. . . . Meanwhile, Bing Van Etten's favorite, Bullet Bob Hansen, former Central Valley sensation, appears assured of a spot on the Jersey City mound staff. . . . Whatever became of Don Hempe, the former Poughkeepsie High School flash? . . . Larry Weisaupt, Dick Howard, "Tarz" Spada and others soaking up information in Detroit's night club circuit for the week-end invasion. . . . If only they had the "Old Owl" for a guide! He'd show them around.

Of Men and Mice:

Tommy Davitt and the City Baseball League off to a good start. . . . Alderman Jack Dawkins will be a big help in setting up the Athletic Field. . . . Consider well the barber, his lot is hardly fair! It matters not how hard he tries—he gets in people's hair. . . . Hank Sauer of the Cincinnati Reds who played wartime ball with Bill Whalen's Poughkeepsie club shapes up as the best National League rookie of the spring. . . . Chic Reiser, a member of the Kate Smith Celts in Kingston, is the best ball player on the Baltimore Bullets roster. . . . The Bullets are currently engaged in a seven-game championship series against the Philadelphia Warriors for the B.A.A. title.

We sincerely hope that league delegates to the annual directors meeting and elections of the Kingston Bowling Association tonight will not sell the bowlers down the river. . . . Any move designed to impose levies or assessments against the individual bowlers of the association should be fought tooth and nail unless it represents a legitimate request. . . . We are in favor of a $500 salary for the secretary but we do not believe the secretary should be compelled to solicit advertising for the association's annual booklet in order to insure that salary. . . . The purpose of the booklet is plausible but we wonder if it serves as it was originally intended. . . . We have seen too many stray copies thrown around the bowling alleys. . . . The rank and file of the Kingston Bowling Association should not be compelled to pay for the mistakes of individuals. . . . The slate of officers offered by the nominating committee will be approved intact by the delegates, we are sure. . . . But we still insist that the K.B.A. should limit the presidency to one term for any one man.

Aid for the Duffers in Sight:

At least that's what the Worthington golf ball manufacturers insist. . . . They've come up with a new ball known as "Les Strokes" which they say will have greater resiliency than any ball on the market of comparable cost. . . . The ball will permit use of shorter clubs which, in turn, will assure better control, and, therefore, more accuracy and fewer strokes. . . . Its response to the impact of the clubhead is said to be remarkable. . . . In two tests the "Les Strokes" was found to have a resiliency never before achieved by golf balls in the popular-price class. . . . In each case the reaction was 20 per cent stronger. . . . The secret of the ball's greater resiliency is said to be the use of from 2 to 40 times more power transmitting liquid than is used in the construction of comparably-priced balls. . . . It is revealed that the principle applied—that of hydrostatics as in modern automobile brakes and fluid drives—is achieved in the new ball for the first time. . . . Brother duffers, it does everything but roll in by itself on the greens. . . .

State Outboard Motor Moguls Hold Important Meeting Here

Member organizations of the New York Outboard Racing Association discussed several items of interest including the boosting of minimum regatta purses at a three hour session in Kingston this week.

The Kingston Power Boat Association which stages its annual regatta on the Rondout on Sunday, July 11, was the host club and Secretary W. Vernon Radel described the meeting as one of the most comprehensive in the NYORA's history.

More than 50 noted drivers and outboard personalities from throughout the northeast attended with delegations present from Saratoga, White Plains and Interlaken, Mass.

To Meet Here

Since Kingston is a central point best suited for these meetings, all future business sessions of the NYORA will be held here. The May meeting is set for Friday, May 7.

A considerable amount of business was transacted at this, the longest and best attended meeting in the organization's history. Radel said. More than three and a half hours were spent in ironing out many points pertaining to new racing rules, sanctions, regatta schedules and methods of raising regatta prize lists.

The public relations committee headed by Al White and A. C. MacMorris reported that they were successful in having the Chamber of Commerce in two communities in New York pledge cash prizes and trophies far in excess of the association's minimum purse requirements. Schemm and Bolton Landing have earmarked a prize list of $550 for their annual events.

$600 Local Prizes

The Kingston Power Boat Association regatta committee reported that efforts were being made to raise a minimum of $600 in prizes for the July 11th regatta on the Rondout Creek.

European Amateurs Gain Tie in Chicago

Chicago, April 14 (AP)—An eight-man European team of well-trained amateur boxers surprised a sell-out Chicago Stadium crowd of 20,650 last night by tying the American squad in the International Golden Gloves tournament.

Each group won four bouts in the fights. Since the Americans have been competing against European champions in 1937, the overall score now stands 27 bouts to 21 for the U. S. amateurs.

No Boxing This Week

There are no boxing matches scheduled this week at the municipal auditorium.

Dr. Saul Goldfarb, chairman of B'nai B'rith committee that promotes the sport locally, said a show is being arranged for Thursday, April 22.

It is expected that the card will be announced soon, and that the lineup of scrappers will contain the names of some of the country's leading amateurs.

Safety Moves For Boxing Now Set in 7 States

New York, April 14 (AP)—Spurred into action by two ring deaths within a week early this year, boxing commissions throughout the country are applying new safety measures to the sport.

Seven states where boxing thrives—California, Illinois, Washington, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and New York—recently have taken steps to protect fighters.

Others have changes under consideration. Most of the tighter regulations follow, in part, the 23-point program recommended last month by the National Boxing Association.

They call for heavier gloves, stricter examinations and suspension of fighters who hit the deck too regularly. A popular change is the rule requiring an eight-count after each knockdown regardless of how eager the victim is to resume the fray.

The National Boxing Association has urged member states to fix penalties on promoters and managers who fail to live up to their "obligations" in ring safety.

Williams Cited For Athlete of The Year Award

Boston, April 14 (AP)—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox slugging outfielder who is home recovering from an upset stomach, will be presented the first annual "Athlete of the Year Award" at the Christopher Columbus Catholic Center Friday night.

Williams will retain the trophy for one year and his name will be inscribed on it.

It is to be presented annually to the athlete who by his performance in the field of sport has been an inspiration to the youth of America.

Numerous sports personalities have been invited to the affair. The presentation will be by Johnny Garro, sports editor of La Notizia, local Italian American daily newspaper.

Hartford, Conn.—Bobby Rosado, 138, New York, knocked out Jimmy Warren, 136, Brooklyn, 2.

Kingston, one of the leading municipalities in the United States as regards public health, is contemplating a new Tumor Clinic. The new building will be erected adjoining the already-famous Kingston Laboratory built by the administration of former Mayor C. J. Heiselman, and it will be situated in the open court between the City Hall and the laboratory. The rear of the clinic will face Broadway, while the front will face Hasbrouck avenue at the east. The photograph, made from Architect Harry Halverson's sketch, gives an idea how the Tumor Clinic will appear when completed.

The Wallkill central school as well as by others who reside in that section of the village. Action was prompted at this time because of the increased use of diesel engines on the road. These engines run quieter than the old steam locomotives. Mr. Stewart said there were six trains a day running over the crossing and there was added protection needed at this point.

At present there are flash signals at the Main street crossing where Route 208 crosses the tracks. The matter of flasher signals at the "station" crossing has been taken up by Supervisor Stewart with General Superintendent Reyea at Weehawken and Mr. Stewart said he has been given assurance of some added protection but that the matter will have to be presented to the Public Service Commission which can authorize the signals installed. The matter will be discussed at the town board meeting and proper action instituted for a signal system.

And, trained teenage drivers have only half as many fatal accidents as do the untrained of the same age.

Forty-two high schools in the greater New York area have already introduced the driver education course.
